ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of organizing at least one window on at least one computer monitor. The method comprises creating boundaries on the at least one computer monitor. The boundaries form at least one window area therebetween. At least one window area is associated with a window.